RIVER LEVEL TO BE LIFTED

Council Lists Reasons for Tax Increase

1½-mill Boost in Monessen's 1958 Record-breaking Budget

Monessen City Council listed five major reasons for the 1½-mill tax increase in the record-breaking $1,065,200 proposed 1958 budget introduced at a special meeting Saturday. Not necessarily in this order, they were:

1. Wage increases.
2. Expected loss of revenue from the Wage Income Tax.
3. Councilmanic bond issue totaling $225,000 for general improvements.
4. Failure of property owners to pay paving lien obligations.
5. The City will have to pay more for everything from pencils to trucks.

Also included in the budget was the $200,000 public library bond issue approved overwhelmingly by the voters in the Nov. 5 general election. Council has not yet passed a resolution covering the library issue, but it probably will do so within one or two months.

Under the proposed budget, real estate taxes will be boosted from 9½ mills to 11 mills. No other tax changes were proposed. The budget describes the city's total real estate assessment as $36,100,000 an increase of $900,000.

Wage Increases

Dollarwise, the 1958 budget calls for an increase of $415,514 over last year's budget of $649,686.

The new budget includes wage increases for both salaried and hourly city employes. Salaried workers, including police, will receive 3½ per cent increases and hourly workers approximately six cents per hour. Wage increases will amount to over $13,000.

While Council expects to collect $285,000 in real estate taxes next year — a $49,300 increase — it faces to lose $19,100 in wage income tax revenue. This year's revenue from the latter source was $267,100.

According to Council, the loss in wage taxes was arrived at after consultations with representatives of industries in the city who reportedly anticipate an economic decline in 1958.

Although Council had been hinting about a Councilmanic bond issue for improvements, Saturday's action in passing the $225,000 issue came as somewhat a surprise.

Streets, Sewers

Without the issue, Council stated, the tax increase would have been much higher. David Canova, director of finance, said the bond issue will be paid for "over a period of years."

Council will use some of the improvement funds to pay its share for the current Schoonmaker Ave. widening and repaving program.

Reportedly, $75,000 of the issue will be used for streets, another $75,000 for sewers, $60,000 for loans and the remaining $15,000 for acquiring land for library purposes. Some of the money will be taken from one of these categories if the city decides to install a fire alarm system as recommended by the Pennsylvania Economy League.

Council will not take any action until fire underwriters study the PLC recommendation. If the underwriters say the present system is adequate and that the proposed PLC recommendation would not save money "insurance-wise," Council will table the issue for future reference.

Most of the $60,000 Council needs to pay loans from banks is

NBV Recount Results not Yet Available

A court-appointed board of attorneys apparently completed retabulation of votes on Saturday in North Belle Vernon's closely-contested council race.

However the results were not immediately available, according to a spokesman in the prothonotary's office of the Westmoreland County courthouse.

James Reed, North Belle Vernon Republican is seeking to defeat incumbent Democrat Tony Stringhill, who apparently won the Nov. 5 election by 10 votes.

Reportedly, Reed picked up four votes when the ballots from the borough's first precinct were tabulated on Friday. The attorneys were scheduled to begin the second precinct tabulation Saturday.

"We should have the complete results in a day or so," a clerk in the prothonotary's office said.

Jenner to Quit U. S. Senate

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UP) — Sen. William E. Jenner's surprise announcement that he will not seek re-election sent Indiana Republican leaders scurrying today to find a replacement.

The state's junior senator announced Saturday night that he would bow out of the 1958 senatorial race. Regarded as Indiana's best GOP vote-getter, the outspoken right-wing foe of Communism had been considered a sure candidate and probable victor.

Jenner's decision also stirred considerable activity in Democratic Party circles, and a scramble for the Democratic nomination seemed certain with the man they considered the top GOP candidate out of the race.

Short Circuit Proves Monessen's CD Group Is Ready for Action

An electrical short circuit yesterday proved that Monessen's civil defense organization is prepared.

The city's CD control center was manned in record time when a defect in the county-wide telephone system set off a false alarm at 8:40 o'clock yesterday morning.

W. Roy McShaffrey, head of the Monessen civil defense unit, said that 34 firemen reported for duty a few minutes after the alarm sounded.

The control center was fully manned by members of the auxiliary police, resuce team, supply team, transportation team, engineers, and communications team, McShaffrey said.

It was almost ten minutes before the fully-staffed Monessen control center could get through to county headquarters at Greensburg.

The swift Monessen action won high praise from Sheriff Howard Bud) Thomas, the Westmoreland County CD director.

'Very Successful'

"It was a very, very successful test," Thomas said, "even if it was a false one."

Thomas also reported a good county-wide response. More than 1,000 CD members sprung into action in Westmoreland when the air raid alert sounded.

About 30 minutes after the first alarm went off, a second one was sounded. At that point, officials became suspicious.

Investigation showed a short circuit had developed somewhere in the telephone system, setting off the false alarms.

An all-clear was sounded at 9:10 a.m.

The first alarm activated a bell and light signal in the county jail, the country control center and in Thomas' home. Jail guards, trained to cope with an air raid, placed a conformation call to Thomas, then ordered 26 blasts

Negro Students In Classes with No Paratroopers

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UP) — Nine Negro students went to classes at Central High School today for the first time without the protection of paratroopers.

There was no trouble.

The last 225 members of the 101st Airborne Division left Little Rock Wednesday when the school closed for the Thanksgiving holiday. They left the job of keeping the peace at Central High to 900 federalized Arkansas National Guardsmen.

The Negro students arrived at the school in private automobiles. The cars pulled to the curb in front of the school and the Negroes got out and walked inside the building virtually unnoticed.

National Guard troops which have patrolled the school grounds on the lawn the past several days pulled out to the sidewalks around the building. Their force appeared to have been increased by a few men.

Half a dozen FBI agents cruised in the area in automobiles, and four or five city patrol cars were in the vicinity, but there was no disorder.

There was some talk circulating in Little Rock Sunday night that a caravan of anti-integrationists would move into the Central High School area. But no such caravan was noted long after school had opened.

Christmas Lights To Go on Tonight

Holiday street decorations in Mcnessen and North Belle Vernon will be turned on tonight.

Originally the lights were to go on in two communities yesterday. However through a mistake, somebody forgot to throw the switch.

Alex Newell, division manager for the West Penn Power Co., said that electricity is supplied without charge for the holiday lights during the month of December.

He added that some valley communities have their lights turned on for several days in November, paying for the additional service.

Arson Suspect In $13,000 Fires In Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Police and fire officials said today arsonists may have set two fires which caused a total of $13,000 damage to taverns in the Uptown and Overbrook districts.

Firemen Patrick Rice, 40, and James Haney, 52, were taken to South Side Hospital. Rice suffered smoke inhalation and Haney a back injury.

The other fire, preceded by an explosion, caused $5,000 damage Sunday night to Ann Mulvehill's Cocktail Lounge and Restaurant on Fifth Avenue, Uptown.

Battalion Chief Sol Kramer said the cause of the explosion was a mystery but that it appeared to be "a case of arson."

State police at Belle Vernon said machines driven by Flora Naylor, 63, Indiana County, and Milton Dupree, 44, R. D. 1, Fayette City, collided at an intersection on Route 71, five miles east of Belle Vernon Saturday afternoon.

Dupree received head and body bruises. His wife, Rebecca, 38, was treated for body and leg bruises.

Damage was placed at $1,000.

In the other accident, Edward Jones, 31, Brownsville, was admitted to Brownsville General Hospital Saturday night after his truck went over an embankment near Fredericktown.

An occupant, Kathryn Mae Smith, 12, Brownsville, was admitted to the hospital with an arm injury.

Canned Food Drive to Open Here Tomorrow

The annual Veterans of Foreign Wars canned food drive will get underway here tomorrow, it was announced today by John Sucevic and Edwin Melenyzer, co-chairmen.

Boxes will be placed at the entrances of the Pittsburgh Steel Co plant here and also at entrances of the Page Division, American Chain & Cable Co. Inc.

Cooperating in the drive with the Allison-Lescanac Post 1190, are local industrial and union leaders, the chairmen announced.

Workers in the mills are asked to bring cans of food to work and deposit them in these containers. The cans will be gathered by a committee from VFW Post 1190 and turned over to the Salvation Army for distribution to needy families for the Christmas season.

Plans will be announced later for a school drive. The drive will close Saturday, Dec. 21.

Lock 4 to Be Raised 6 Feet; Some Flooding

The U. S. Army Corps of Engineers today revealed plans to raise the pool level at Lock 4, Monessen, by six feet.

The project will cost the federal government an estimated eight million dollars.

Col. R. E. Smyser Jr., division engineer, said Lock 4 will be "reconstructed to make it a gated-crest structure which will have less effect on river stages above normal pool than the present fixed-crest dam."

The Lock 4 project, according to Colonel Smyser, is part of a long-range general improvement of the Monongahela River Navigation System.

He said that the Monessen dam will have to be raised because of the proposed new locks further up the Monongahela River at Maxwell and Grays Landing.

When completed, these two new dams will replace Locks 5, 6 and 7. The cost of the three projects will run to an estimated $57,295,000.

Make Plans Public

Colonel Smyser said the dam construction plans were being made public so that objections could be submitted before final approval is given. He said interested persons have until Dec. 27 to place objections to the Corps of Engineers, 315-335 Main St., Cincinnati, 1, Ohio.

By raising the Monessen dam six feet, some property to the south of the dam will be flooded.

"Where property is affected beyond the ordinary high water limits of the Monongahela River Channel, owners will be justly compensated for the damages sustained, in accordance with existing law and general policies," Colonel Smyser said.

The federal government will pay for practically all of the dam construction. It is estimated that the work and damages at Monessen will run to $7,926,000 based on 1956 price levels.

According to Colonel Smyser, the new dam construction is necessary because Locks 5, 6 and 7 "have deteriorated from long service." He also said that the old structures "are inadequate for efficient movement of the continuously increasing traffic load."

Same Site for Lock 4

There will be no change in the location of Lock 4, Monessen. The lock walls, guide and guard walls and the dam will be increased in height to provide a new normal upper pool level at elevation 743.5 feet above mean sea level or six feet higher than the present pool.

Hurricane Nina Bears Down on Hawaiian Island

HANEPEPE, Kauai, T. H. (UP) —Some one thousand persons on the island of Kauai moved into shelters manned by Red Cross workers early today as Hurricane Nina bore in with 80-mile-an-hour winds.

No major damage was reported from Hawaii's first recorded hurricane, although power failures were commonplace and the Aloha Theater in Hanepepe was flooded with three feet of water.

The storm shifted course early Sunday, thus saving Honolulu which is 96 miles southeast of here from a serious battering. However, Honolulu reported the first casualty attributed to the storm. A lineman was electrocuted while repairing a 4000-volt power line that was damaged by the gale force winds.

The major danger to Kauai was flooding. Rains reported at three and one-half inches per hour Sunday night threatened to flood low lying areas and inundate domestic water supply systems.

Storm warnings were lowered for the southernmost island of Hawaii, 200 miles south of Oahu, and similar action was expected for the other major islands except Kauai

The storm was expected to deliver its hardest punch early today and then taper off.

No hurricane has hit any of the Hawaiian Islands in recorded history although one came close to Kauai in 1950. Nina was expected to come within 80 miles of the island, possibly the closest one ever got.

County GOP Leaders Looking for Candidate to Oppose John Dent

Westmoreland County Republican leaders were casting about almost desperately today for a top-flight candidate to run against State Sen. John H. Dent in a special Jan. 21 election for a seat in Congress

Dent's nomination as the Democratic candidate is almost a foregone conclusion. The veteran state legislator is willing and potential opposition had gradually faded away.

GOP leaders, several of whom think Dent can be beaten by the "right man" in such a head-to-head contest as the special election will be, are having trouble persuading well known Republicans to make the race.

The party's county committee is scheduled to make its choice at a meeting in the Penn Albert Hotel, Greensburg, Friday night at 7:45. The Democratic candidate will be nominated by the party's state executive committee in Harrisburg Dec. 9.

A well-informed Republican, who asked that his name not be used, told The Daily Independent that the name under most active consideration today is that of Glenn F. Cook, former county register of wills now in the real estate and insurance business in Ligonier.

Cook has a wide acquaintance throughout the county as a result of activities in connection with war bond promotion during World War II and afterwards. He is about 45, makes a good appearance and is an accomplished speaker.

"If Glenn will take it, he can have the nomination hands down, and he will give Johnny Dent the race of his life," The Independent was told.

It is reported that Cook was first approached last week. He asked for time to think it over and consult his wife. After he had done this, he told party leaders that he would not run.

But it was understood that as late as this morning, they were still talking to the Ligonier man and expected another "final" answer before nightfall.

Another name mentioned in Greensburg today was that of Dr. J. Karl Beery, Monessen chiropractor whose residence is in Rostraver Twp.

A former city councilman in Monessen, Dr. Beery now serves as chairman of the county Housing Authority, an unsalaries position.

His office said he was deer hunting today and could not be reached for comment on his possible candidacy for Congress.

Steel Layoffs Listed At Monessen Works

The Pittsburgh Steel Co. today announced a reduced schedule of operations for its Monessen works.

Decreasing demands for oil country tubular goods — which has produced layoffs in Pittsburgh Steel's tube division at Allenport — has forced a corresponding reduction of operations at Monessen, the company stated.

In most departments of the Monessen works, the company and union have agreed to a plan by which work schedules are reduced and layoffs held to a minimum.

The company reported that total layoffs of regular production employes at Monessen stands today at approximately 500. Nearly half of these employes are covered by supplemental unemployment benefits.

Along with the necessity of reducing the steel-making rate to conform with the lower volume of orders for finished steel goods, there has had to be a similar reduction in blast furnace production of pig iron, the company pointed out.

This decrease is being accomplished by a shutdown of No. 1 Blast Furnace at the Monessen works. The reduced steel production has resulted in the scheduling of four day work weeks for open hearth crews. The lower production rate for open hearths will remain in effect until demand for steel improves.

Monessen works blooming mill department will operate beginning today on two-shift per day basis. There will be four hours of "down" time between the eight hour shifts.

Dag, Jordan Officials Deadlock Over Crisis

Israel Showing No Signs of Any Retreat

By UNITED PRESS

Dag Hammarskjold was reported deadlocked with Jordanian officials today on ways of ending the current tenion between Israel and Jordan. Israel also showed no indication of retreating from its position.

The situation was made more difficult by reports of two border incidents Sunday, one a sharp engagement in which Israel charged that Jordanian troops attacked with automatic rifles and hand grenades.

Amman dispatches said the United Nations Secretary General began the second day of his talks today with King Hussein and other Jordanian leaders but that neither side appeared ready to climb down.

Wants Leary Out

Jordan demands the ouster of U.S. Marine Col. Byron T. Leary, acting head of the creaky truce machinery, and insists that Hammarskjold visit Mount Scopus, the Israeli enclave Jordan claims Israel is militarizing inside Jordan Jerusalem.

While Hammarskjold was talking Sunday with Foreign Minister Samir Rifai and Hussein, Israel alleged that Jordanian troops opened fire in hopes of increasing border tension. Jordan denied the Israeli charges.

An Israeli military spokesman in Jerusalem said a group of Jordanians attacked a watchman at the settlement of Adulam, northeast of Beit Govrin, early Sunday morning. The watchman called Israeli reinforcements who beat off the attackers, the spokesman said. One Israeli was wounded.

Claims Second Incident

Israel also alleged that a group of Jordanians fired on Israeli workers in an olive grove near Ramat Rahel on Jerusalem's southern outskirts. No casualties were reported. Jordan denied this charge too.

Hammarskjold flew to the Middle East at request of the Jordanian government. He plans to go to Israel Tuesday for talks with Premier David Ben-Gurion and Foreign Minister Golda Meir. He is to visit Syria later, but a spokesman said he had no plans to visit Egypt now.

A Jerusalem dispatch quoting political circles said Israel would firmly reject Jordan's hint that the U.N. should take full jurisdiction over the Scopus area. Foreign ministry circles stress that Mount Scopus is as much Israeli territory as Tel Aviv or the new city of Jerusalem.

Ike Returns to Washington for Cabinet Meeting

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (UP) — President Eisenhower headed back to Washington today after a long weekend of recuperating from his mild stroke. He hoped to preside at a cabinet meeting at the White House this afternoon.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said the Chief Executive was continuing to make an "excellent" recovery from the seizure he suffered a week ago.

Mrs. Eisenhower did not make the return trip to Washington. She remained behind at the farm.

Hagerty told newsmen that the President "had a very good night's sleep again" Sunday night.

Hagerty relayed to reporters Snyder's judgement of the President's health this morning "Progress continues to be excellent."

He also hopes to attend Tuesday's White House meeting with congressional leaders of both parties which may bring him face to face for the first time since his re-election with his defeated Democratic opponent, Adlai E. Stevenson.

The State Department announced Sunday night that Stevenson, acting as special consultant to the President on plans for the Dec. 16 Atlantic Alliance "summit" meeting, will participate in the portion of the legislative meeting dealing with the Dec. 16 Paris conference.

While the White House had no official word on whether the President will attend the legislative talks, he is known to be anxious to do so and presumably will attend if his doctors don't veto such action.

Retired Engineer Stricken Saturday

Arthur McNabb, 605 McKee Way, Monessen, was listed as "improving" in Charleroi-Monessen Hospital this morning after being taken ill Saturday night.

When first stricken, he was placed in an oxygen tent. The tent was removed yesterday. He is to undergo tests today.

McNabb is a retired designing engineer of Pittsburgh Steel Co.

Icy Highways Cause Deaths in the State

By UNITED PRESS

Sub-freezing temperatures coated some Pennsylvania roadways with a thin sheet of ice for varying periods during the weekend, creating hazardous driving conditions that resulted in at least two deaths.

A United Press count showed at least 17 persons were killed in traffic mishaps in the state during the long weekend holiday period, from 6 p.m., Wednesday, to midnight Sunday.

Driving conditions were worst in the northeastern region, where most roads were slushy. Five inches of new snow was reported this morning in the Smethport and Coudersport areas and more snow was expected to those areas during the day.

Early morning temperatures dropped into the tens in some areas. State police reported ice and sleet along the mountain sections of the Turnpike and parts of the Northeast Extension. Similar conditions were reported elsewhere.

Afternoon temperatures thawed the glaze and eliminated the driving hazard for the heavier volume of afternoon traffic.

The latest fatalities were

Erie: Marlene Stewart, 23. Erie was killed Sunday when her auto kidded at an icy intersection in downtown Erie and collide with a truck.

Meadville: Mrs. Ruth Jenkins, Meadville, was killed Saturday night when an auto in which she was riding skidded into the path of another car.

Irwin: Daniel Ziska, 4, North Irwin, was killed Sunday when he fell out of a moving car on Route 30 and was run over by a truck. State police said the truck did not stop but they were not certain the driver knew he had struck the child.

Reading: Harold Mountd, (correct) 1, was killed Sunday when an auto crashed into the side of his father's car on Route 83 near Strousstown.

Waynesboro: Donald V. McKenrick, 26, Waynesboro, was injured fatally when his auto struck a culvert on Route 997 north of here Sunday.

York: Charles Brennan, 60, whose address was not known, was killed Saturday night when struck by an automobile on Route 116 east of Spring Grove.

Reading: Robert Walbert, 50, Reading, was injured fatally Sunday in a two-car collision here.

Like Monessen, firemen sprung quickly into action in Belle Vernon, North Belle Vernon and Rostraver Twp. Certain CD units in Washington and Fayette Counties were also alerted.

During the height of the "raid," anxious residents called police, firemen, newspapers and radio station to ask "What's wrong. . . What happened?"

Two Hoodlums Questioned in Recluse Slaying

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Homicide detectives today questioned anew two hoodlums, each of who signed a statement blaming the other for the slaying of Mrs. Elizabeth Ensinger.

The 84-year-old crippled recluse was beaten to death in her home during a robbery Nov. 17.

Michael Popovich, 36, of McKees Rocks, and Frank Zaffina, 29, Pittsburgh, have been named as the two who went into Mrs. Ensinger's home to rob her. Each has blamed the other for killing her.

The two were to be taken before Magistrate John J. Fiorucci today for a hearing. Also to be arraigned were William (Tex) Garrison, 33, charged as an accessory before the fact of murder. Garrison once lived in Mrs. Ensinger's duplex home in the Oakland district.

A fourth suspect, Vincent Scatena, 32, a bartender, remained in seclusion in the county jail. Police have said he masterminded the robbery and waited outside in his car while Popovich and Zaffina went into Mrs. Ensinger's home.

The case was broken with the help of Mary Murton, 18, who told officers she drove here from Cleveland the day before the murder and sat with Scatena in his car during the crime.

The blossom heads of the compass plant turn so that the petal edges point north and south.

County

McKee Jr., is another Republican who probably could have the nomination for the asking. He was out of the county today, but friends said they understand he is not even considering the congressional nomination for himself.

Herbert O. Morrison, Scottdale news broadcaster who was twice defeated by the late Congressman Augustine B. Kelley, would like to run against Dent. But while Morrison is well liked among Republican leaders the condsensus seems to be that his poor showings against Kelley rule him out unless stronger material is not available.

Other names still being mentioned include those of Robert H. Rial, unsuccessful candidate for judge in last month's election; Richard F. Miaskiewicz, Jeannette industrial employe, and Fred Humphrey, Greensburg businessman.

None of these, however, seems to have rung a bell and the search is still on.

Republicans who think Dent can be defeated by the "right man" point to the 1951 upset in which he was beaten by a Republican and the GOP took control of the county commissioners' office for the first time in many years.

The next year, when Dent was a candidate for reelection to the state senate, he had a close call, defeating Republican William C. Henderson by only 1,600 votes.

Recently Dent has been feuding privately with Gov. George M. Leader and is said to have alienated many Democrats.

Although the Democrats have a 51,000 registration majority in the county, Dent would not have the benefit of "straight ticket" voting in a special contest. It would be his name against the name of the Republican candidate, and while Dent undoubtedly would have a decided edge, some Republicans think he could be scared and just possibly upset again.

the "direct result" of property owners' failure to pay "promised paving lien obligations." it was said at Saturday's meeting.

Earlier this year, Council had to borrow money to meet bills it had expected to pay from lien obligations.

Property owners, many of them in the Columbus Dr.-Pacific Blvd. area, according to Council, owe as much as $65,000 in liens for 1956 alone. Some others still owe for several years back, it was said.

Council promised "corrective action" and will notify delinquents immediately.

The fifth major reason for the record budget is one familiar to everyone — inflation. The city, just like the housewife, will have to pay more for everything it uses in 1958.

Estimated Costs

Following are the estimated costs for operations and maintenance with last year's figures in parenthesis:

General government, $87,296 ($79,545); Protection to persons and property, $161,535 ($154,531); health and sanitation, $72,582 ($72,409); library, $5,000 ($4,500); recreation, $46,311 ($45,860). Miscellaneous expenditures for next year amount to $55,600 compared to this year's $74,100. The interest on bonds will be paid from this category. Total operational and maintenance costs are placed at $567,794. Capital outlay and other expenditures make up the total of $1,065,200 called for in the budget.

Canova and Joseph Bafile, finance dept. officer, prepared and presented the proposed budget Saturday. Mayor Hugo J. Parente ordered it prepared for advertising and said it will be available for public inspection until Dec. 24 at the City Clerk's office in the City Building.

Several Missile Tests Are Scheduled

At Least Four Are Readied At Cape Canaveral Site

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UP) — The "bird watchers society" of newsmen and photographers began gathering on the beaches in force today to check reports the guided missile test center would put on its biggest display of rocket launchings this week.

Unofficial reports indicated at least four missiles, including the Vanguard satellite - launcher rocket, were being readied on the launching pads.

The reports listed a Snark ready for firing Tuesday, the Vanguard Wednesday, an Atlas Thursday and a Thor on Friday. In the jargon of the missile center, such rockets are called "birds", and the corps of spectators "bird watchers."

Snark Tested Already

The Snark, however, is not a rocket. It is a 5,000-mile range pilotless plane with a rocket booster for takeoff and a ramjet engine for flight. It has been tested successfully numerous times and is slated as the chief weapon for a new Air Force combat group.

The Vanguard is a 72-foot long, three-stage rocket developed by the Navy. Reports indicated that scientists will attempt to put into orbit around the earth with the Vanguard a test satellite measuring 6.4 inches in diameter and weighing almost four pounds.

Atlas May Be Delayed

Informed sources said the Atlas may not go off as scheduled on Thursday. There have been published reports from California, where the Atlas is manufactured by Convair, that the huge intercontinental ballistics missile was damaged during a hold-down test of its engines here last Wednesday.

The Atlas, developed here under an Air Force contract, has been tested twice before and each time had to be destroyed at a comparatively low altitude because of malfunctioning of some of its parts.

The Thor is another Air Force ballistics missile in the intermediate range class. It was launched successfully for the first time only recently. The Thor is the Air Force counterpart of the Army's 3,000-mile Jupiter which also has been tested successfully here.

River

Monessen Lockmaster Harry Maple said that the proposed new construction will raise the normal pool from 14 to 20 feet.

It was reported that the new level will be confined mostly to the river channel between banks, but some low areas will be flooded under the proposal.

The new gate structure at Lock No. 4 will also have some affect during floods. If the new project is approved, it will be possible to release water at Monessen.

This could result in a slightly heavier flooding north of the dam, it was learned.

The Army engineers have not indicated when the construction will start. However it was believed that bids will be let early next year.

Work will start first on the Maxwell and Grays Landing dams. However the Monessen phase will be completed at the same time as the other two projects, Colonel Smyser said.

The Maxwell locks and dam will be located 61 miles above the mouth of the river, or about 5 miles above existing locks and dam 5. The structures will include twin locks and a grated dam.

The Grays landing lock and dam will be located about 3 miles downstream from existing lock and dam 7 and will include a single lock and a gated dam.

The estimated total federal cost of the projects is $57,295,000. It includes $7,926,000 for the proposed work on the existing locks and dam 4; $28,244,000 for the Maxwell project, and $21,125,000 for the Grays Landing project.

This topic centered around the Christian home, showing how the furnishing and decorating of a home can influence its occupants and also those who visit it. The topic consisted of two parts; one in which the group listened to a dialogue which visualized what could be used in the home to help witness for Christ; the other, a practical demonstration of how special things can be used in making decorations for the various holidays in the Christian year. An interesting film was shown to conclude the program.

The business session was conducted by president, Mrs. Dorothy Zumbro. The Circle voted to send donations to the Lutheran Service Society and the Lutheran Student Foundation.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Peggie Nesbit and Frances Lucovitz. Mrs. Thelma Medsger assisted the hostesses. A game was provided by Mrs. Vera Gephart.

To Probe School Spending

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Public Instruction Department today paved the way for a close check on how Pennsylvania's more than 2,000 school districts spend the state's money.

The audit, which will eventually go into the field for spot checks, was authorized by the 1957 Legislature and reflects the increasing concern of the state's lawmakers over the mounting costs of education and state grants.

Dr. Clarence E. Ackley, deputy superintendent of public instruction is in overall charge of the study, aided by a steering committee which includes Dr. John H. Ferguson, secretary of administration in Gov. George M. Leader's office.

Ackley said "rather extensive studies" will be made in some districts, while others will be spot checked because of the large number involved. The Legislature authorized a $200,000 appropriation for the project.

"The project is designed to find out what happens and how wisely or unwisely the school districts spend the millions of dollars in state reimbursements," Ackley said. "It will cover such phases as school building programs, school transportation, funds for school jointures or mergers, and matching of federal funds."

He said that one of the major jobs will be to pick out from the records of receipts and expenditures the districts that need to be checked out in field work.

AFL-CIO Holds First National Convention

The AFL-CIO, merged two years ago, opens its first national convention here this week, a crucial meeting which could vastly reduce its ranks and possibly start another long war within the labor movement.

The major item of business was a showdown over expulsion of the giant Teamsters Union—an item on which George Meany, the bull-necked federation president, has staked his future. Meany is ready to quit if the delegates refuse his demand to oust the 1,500,000-member Teamsters and three other unions tagged corrupt by the AFL-CIO Ethical Practices Committee.

AFL-CIO Vice President James B. Carey predicted in a television interview Sunday that the convention will vote "almost unanimously" to expel the Teamsters. But he said the convention also must make some provision for Teamsters locals and rank and file members who wish to shake off corrupt leaders and remain in the AFL-CIO. He said he "very definitely" expects a move within the Teamsters to oust the present leadership charged with corruption.

The disputes, which also could result in further depletion of the organization's membership, include jurisdictional squabbles between craft unions affiliated with the old AFL and industrial unions which had been under the CIO, and the failure of state CIO and AFL organizations in 17 states and numerous important city groups to merge voluntarily during the two-year period of grace.

Expect Secession Attempts

The state and local organizations which have failed to reach agreement on merger will not be represented at the convention which will forcibly unite them. It was regarded as possible that some state and local leaders might try to secede rather than submit to the national group's merger decrees.

The jurisdictional dispute between the craft and industrial wings is expected to provide an early test of Meany's leadership at the convention of the building trades department opening today and running through Wednesday.

In addition to the Teamsters, those unions marked for expulsion were the $60,000 member Bakery and Confectionery Workers, the 30,000 member Laundry Workers, and the Distillery Workers, with about 25,000 members.

Two other unions under fire, the 80,000 - member Allied Industrial Workers, and the 40,000-member United Textile Workers, have made progress in reforms and won't be expelled, the AFL-CIO said.

The Community Fund: How Do You Stand?

MONESSEN'S annual Community Fund campaign is at a stage where some intense effort by the campaign organization and some deep searching of consciences by the people of Monessen are called for. The latest report shows that the Fund is now about $4,300 short of the goal of $29,975.

This, of course, is not a satisfactory result, and it will not be allowed to stand. But wholly aside from the fact that the amount contributed so far will not adequately finance the 14 agencies dependent on the Community Fund, it leaves many people and many organizations and firms in Monessen under the stigma of neglecting the most serious charitable obligation the community has.

* * *

LET'S look in our mirrors for a moment, ask ourselves some straight questions and demand straight answers to them.

How about our industries and other corporations and the executives who make their policies? Can they honestly say that their pledges to the Community Fund, both corporate and personal, represent sacrifice in the names of charity and town progress? Are their pledges on a scale which reflects earnest concern about the well-being of the less fortunate? Or do they perhaps just represent an off-hand guess as to what might satisfy the leadership of the Community Fund?

How about our industrial wage earners? How many of them are trying to do with a buck or two a job that really calls for a day's pay or more? How many of them have looked carefully down that list of 14 Community Fund agencies and then tried to make his gift cover that ground?

How about the labor union leaders? They are always jealous of their right to be represented in community activities and properly so. Do they have their shoulders hard to the wheel now in this most important activity of all, and are they diligently driving home to the members of their unions the need for larger gifts to the Community Fund?

How about our doctors, dentists and other professional people? They have a generally poor record when it comes to contributing to charitable and cultural causes, and our information is that their performance in the current campaign is about the same. They of all people should not need reminding that we are our brother's keeper.

* * *

WHAT about our retail business firms, including both large chains and individual merchants? How many are getting off with $5 and $10 gifts who could and should give five times as much? Do they see the Community Fund as an opportunity to make a fine city finer, or is it for them just an annual nuisance to be dismissed at the least possible cost?

To some these questions may sound impertinent. If so, that's the way we intend them. There is nothing wrong in this Community Fund campaign that a little honest self-examination among our major economic groups won't quickly cure. Let's hope they all do it at once.

New Labor Laws

THE HEARINGS of the Senate subcommittee headed by Sen. McClellan have clearly indicated the need for some further federal legislation in the labor-management field. There can be no question that abuses have developed which neither unions nor managements can correct internally and which therefore require governmental regulation.

Some senators are already giving thought as to what form the new legislation should take. Sen. McClellan himself is reported to be drafting some proposals. The ranking Republican on the subcommittee, Sen. Irving Ives of New York, has already advanced four specific suggestions, all of them obviously inspired by the findings of the McClellan committee. Sen. Ives would:

1. Make it an unfair labor practice for unions to vote on officers or other important matters except by secret ballot.

2. Provide criminal penalties for failure of unions to file financial and other reports. These are now required by law but no penalty is provided for failure to comply.

3. Make it an unfair practice for a union to picket for recognition within a year after it had lost a representation election.

4. Prohibit payments by employers to employes through middlemen or union representatives to interfere with union organization.

Sen. Ives' suggestions are representative, we understand, of the thinking that is going on among members of Congress on this general subject. The broad objective seems to be to increase the power of rank-and-file members in the conduct of union affairs, to promote responsible and honest handling of union funds and to strike at corrupt collusion between union racketeers and unscrupulous employers.

While it is not going to be easy to write good laws to accomplish this objective, it can scarcely be denied that the effort must be made and made soon.

Merry-Go-Round—

Ike's Stroke Like Some Roosevelt Had

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Regardless of whether President Eisenhower had a "stroke" as private specialists described it, or an "occlusion of a small branch of the cerebral vessel" as the White House doctors described it, the medical consensus is that he suffered in a minor way what Woodrow Wilson suffered in a major way. Ike's stroke or "strokelet" is also similar to the small stroke suffered by the late Franklin Roosevelt.

Mr. Pearson

Woodrow Wilson, while campaigning for the League of Nations, suffered a "massive stroke," was confined to bed and a wheel chair during the remainder of his term, while government business, including vital decisions pertaining to the peace of the world, were left undecided.

Private doctors specializing in vascular disease and studying the reports of the White House agree that the President's ailment does not have to be serious. But at his age, they also agree that chances of a recurrent stroke are almost 100 to 1.

Three Possibilities

Three developments can take place in the body of a man suffering from vascular disease, which has been Eisenhower's problem for some time:

1. He can suffer an embolism, or clot, in part of the body, which becomes lodged someplace else. This rarely lodges in the brain and was not the case with the President.

2. He can suffer a hemorrhage, which again is rare in the brain except in the case of people with high blood pressure. Eisenhower at one time suffered from high blood pressure, but in recent years his doctors say he has overcome this.

3. There can be a blood clot in a blood vessel in the brain. This is common and is what afflicted the President last week. The blood clot usually forms where the inner surface of a vessel is rough. People sometimes awaken in the morning with such a clot, or are stricken during the day. It usually comes on slowly and is not dramatic. This is the case with the President.

FDR'S Strokes

With careful treatment and rest, the spasms disappear, with recovery depending upon the size of the clot. Actually the clot never disappears. The blood vessel is closed off by nature, and nature then compensates for the loss of this vessel by opening other channels.

The significant factor in the President's case is his age. If he were younger, the clot would mean very little. But at the age of 67 all specialists agree that the chance of a recurrence is high. They point out that the late Franklin Roosevelt suffered several strokes during the latter part of his term in the White House, one in the summer of 1944 when he took a cruise to Alaska to recover from it; another when he was returning from Yalta.

On each occasion Roosevelt's speech was slightly impaired, and the public noticed he had some difficulty with his enunciation during his address to the nation following his return from Yalta. White House aides at that time explained this resulted from a new set of false teeth.

Actually the President had suffered a slight stroke, and it was only four months later that a "massive" stroke brought about his death at Warm Springs on April 12, 1945.

NOTE: Medical experts say that the most worrisome factor in President Eisenhower's slight stroke is that it occurred despite the fact that he was receiving the best attention medical science could give him in the year 1957, and that he was on dicumarol, an anti-coagulant designed to prevent blood-clotting which causes strokes.

Ike's Frankness on Health

President Eisenhower himself has been franker than anyone around him regarding the hazards of health in the presidency. Here is the record of what he has said both in public and in private.

1. In May, 1955, Eisenhower told Sen. George Bender of Ohio that if he ran again he would be the only president to reach the age of 70 in the White House. And he warned about the erosion on the health of any president.

2. In September, 1955, as Republican state leaders gathered in Denver, the President told them that they could not pin their future on one man.

3. When he came back from his heart attack, Eisenhower told newsmen at Key West, Fla., that it would be wrong for him to run again unless he had a good chance of serving out a second term, because "it is a very critical thing to change governments in this country at a time when it's unexpected."

4. At his first White House Press conference after the heart attack he warned: "It would be idle to pretend that my health can be wholly restored to the excellent state in which the doctors believed it to be in mid-September. . . My future life must be carefully regulated to avoid excessive fatigue."

From Washington—

Nixon Is Well Prepared

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

One of President Eisenhower's greatest contributions to the functioning of the White House is the training and trust he has given to Vice President Richard Nixon.

It is paying dividends today.

Mr. Drummond

The United States right now has something very near to the equivalent of two Presidents. The fact that Mr. Nixon is viewed in this light by many of his present and former critics as well as by his admirers is a fair measure of the changed estimate of the once ultra-controversial Vice President.

Mr. Nixon's growth and grasp of the widest range of affairs and the initiative he has taken in expounding administration policy are not accidental. Mr. Eisenhower planned it that way.

Mr. Nixon is now going to have this training to a degree everyone hoped would never be necessary.

More Responsibility

Mr. Eisenhower's full recovery on the doctors' schedule will still require Mr. Nixon to take on responsibility and leadership never before exercised by any Vice President in American history.

The role which Mr. Nixon will play will be with the President's approval. Mr. Nixon has no intention to grab for power. Mr. Eisenhower has no intention to hoard power. He wants things to keep moving.

During his five years in the White House President Eisenhower has never been sidelined before at a time when so much that is critical has to be done so promptly.

This isn't just a matter of carrying forward established policy. New decisions will have to be made in both domestic and foreign policy. From here to the opening of Congress in January are among the six most strenuous weeks of presidential labor in the whole year.

Nixon Needed

Mr. Eisenhower, as things now look, can share in shaping these decisions but he cannot, by his doctors' orders, shoulder the rigorous work of analysis, debate and briefing which must precede and follow these decisions. This is why Mr. Nixon will be playing a still larger role during this period.

He will have to take the lead in consulting with and outlining the administration's major 1958 legislative requests to the bi-partisan conference of congressional leaders Dec. 3.

He will have to be the President's principal agent in selling the administration program — from increased foreign aid to increased defense spending — to the Republican party beginning with the White House conference Dec. 4.

He will undoubtedly have to preside over Cabinet and National Security Council meetings for several weeks and take a lead in shaping large policy decisions right up to the point of the President's final approval.

He will have to represent Mr. Eisenhower at the Paris NATO meeting of heads of government on Dec. 16. This will be the hardest task and greatest test to which any American Vice President has ever been put.

Nixon Prepared

Fortunately Mr. Nixon has for several years been having unprecedented preparation.

By virtue of the fact that he has been in the inner councils of policy formulation since the day Mr. Eisenhower was inaugurated, Mr. Nixon has total knowledge of administration policy, both present and intended. By contrast, bear in mind that Mr. Truman never once walked through the door of the White House while he was Vice President and when he suddenly had to take over, he had to digest some 30,000 words of memoranda daily for several months just to catch up on what had gone on in the past.

By virtue of his world travels, Mr. Nixon by now has a close personal acquaintance with most of the political leaders of the free nations.

Mr. Nixon has also shown himself willing and able to do more than anyone in Washington to expound urgent, unpopular and ill understood policy, particularly economic aid.

These are all assets which will serve Mr. Nixon — and the nation — well in the coming months. They are assets which Mr. Eisenhower has wisely and deliberately put into the hands of his Vice President.

Ike Will Attend Paris Meeting—or Else!

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UP) — There is a pat phrase for what will take place in Paris two weeks from today if the heads of state of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization NATO countries meet in the absence of President Eisenhower.

Mr. Wilson

"Hamlet without Hamlet," is the phrase.

Producing Shakespeare's "Hamlet" without the Prince of Denmark in the title role would, of course be just about the utmost in frustrating futility.

The phrase "Hamlet without Hamlet" was coined to express a situation in which some great effort was made and failed because the basic necessity for its success was not present when the effort was made. That would be a fair description of what awaits the NATO summit meeting if the President is unable to attend.

Accept Nixon But...

NATO Secretary General Paul-Henri Spoak put it in the fewest words as reported in a dispatch from Paris. The Atlantic pact council of ministers had just voted to accept Vice President Richard M. Nixon as a substitute for President Eisenhower at the NATO meeting which begins Dec. 16.

"Everyone would be delighted," Spaak said, "if the doctors decide that the President can come.

"After all," and here Spaak put the clincher on it, "the whole concept originally was to have the President here to lend the weight of his prestige to a new NATO effort."

None knows that better than Eisenhower. He is under fire in the United States for complacency, lack of leadership, failure to direct the nation's affairs vigorously in the cold war with the Soviet Union.

Under such circumstances, the President is facing the gravest kind of decision. Shall he or shall he not answer the NATO plea for his leadership and prestige? There is not much doubt here that he will answer the NATO call. If he is unable to do so, the President instantly is confronted with another decision, graver than the first and more personal.

Ike Set Rules

By his own rules, Eisenhower has put it that a President must be physically up to the "performance of important duties." The NATO summit meeting with chiefs of state present to compose a bold, new, free-world front against the Communist menace is important.

Few well-informed persons in Washington would believe today that the President will not be there. By the same logic, it seems reasonable to believe that he would bench himself if he were unable to perform that important duty.

Someone pushed the panic button in the early hours of last week's uncertainty about Eisenhower's health. The White House and State Department said simultaneously it was to be "assumed" he would not attend the NATO meeting in Paris. That led inevitably to speculation that he would retire.

The United Press reported over the weekend that the White House was doing its utmost now to squelch the retirement idea.

Squelch it is just what a journey to Paris would do.

Nothing less would quite squelch an idea like that.

The Lighter Side—

New York Won't Change Just to Please Visitors

By DOC QUIGG

NEW YORK (UP)—Sometimes, around this doughty burg, an accident happens which causes a foreigner from some such place as Indiana to develop—and utter—the off-base opinion that the town is so stuffy that it doesn't even want to be loved.

At such times, we don't feel so much muffed as hurt — terribly, terribly hurt.

Howard Houghton, editor and publisher of the Huntington (Ind.) Herald - Press, has come forth with an editorial about poor old New York City and its ingrown talent for being sadly misunderstood.

He starts off this way:

"Doc Quigg, who writes for the newspapers, is trying to make the rest of the country feel sorry for New York. It doesn't seem to bother him that New York has been described as just a big hick town. He more or less accepts that, but he does seem to want us to believe that New York is very sad because it is misunderstood so very much."

Hoosiers Get Lost

Then he recounts the harrowing tale of a Huntington couple who came to New York last summer in search of romance and adventure—or whatever it is that tourists hanker for when they set out for Gotham. They drove as far as a motel on U.S. 22 in New Jersey, stayed the night, and took a bus next morning into New York.

At the building where they boarded the bus, a sign said "Somerset Bus Terminal," and they took due note of that. They spent the day seeing the New York sights and at nightfall went to the ticket cage and asked for two tickets to Somerset. "Yes, what station?" the ticket man replied. Told again, he said: "Somerset is the bus line. What station do you want?" The visitor said, in that case — he didn't know.

After some back and forth, it dawned on the man from Indiana that he not only didn't know where he came from, but he also didn't know where he'd left the family car and family luggage—except somewhere in the trackless wilds of Jersey. There ensued some frantic moments in which the couple were repulsed by the information desk and sundry scurrying New Yorkers in efforts to learn where they were from.

Key Ends Panic

After a period of panic, things turned out happily when the visitor found in his pocket the motel key with the town name on it. But does this accident of tourism prove New York a cold city? What would you think if you were a New Yorker and a stranger suddenly approached and asked you: "Where in Jersey am I from?"

This incident may give you a small indication of what we have to put up with from the rest of the country. People come in here every day who not only don't know where they're from — they expect the bus drivers to smile, instead of snarling the way they do every day at us New Yorkers.

They expect taxi drivers to change the habit of a lifetime and refrain from hollering at them that they are stupid oafs. They are surprised when waiters are surly, salesgirls snooty, and a young man in a leather jacket takes their money at switchblade point in Central Park. It's too much, really. We do, too, want to be loved. But we ain't gonna be sweet to nobody. The effort would kill us.

Speaking of Beauty

"WHO ARE YOU?"

By James V. Bonafed

Who Are You?

Your hairstyle . . . does it tell the world what kind of person you really are? Or does it whisper, "I'm a little careless. Or a bit old-fashioned . . . and just too bored to care?" Even if you like a style that can change at the stroke of a hairbrush, the basic shape of your coiffure can say proudly, "I'm a smart, self-possessed career woman." Or a neat, sweet, self-giving nurse. Or an intelligent, competent teacher. Or a lovely, well-rounded person — wife, mother, civic helper.

**

What Do You Dream Of Being?

Perhaps you'd prefer a hair fashion that's a pretty contradiction of your outward self! An airy, feminine "do" that says "See? I may be chief cook-and-bottle-washer for a family of six, but my real soul is a poet!" Or a smooth, sculptured symphony of wave can whisper, "Don't let my mild manner fool you. I'm a sophisticate underneath!"

**

We'll Tell the World . . . In Waves!

Now — before you feel one day older — let us style a coiffure that fairly shouts pretty compilments about you! Talk things over with us (let your dreams show, just a little!) Then, with skilled fingers, one of our hairdressers will create a style to tell your story. A young style . . . infinitely flattering!

**

"Permanently" Yours This "Right" Look

To keep the lines of your new hairstyle just as pretty as the moment you leave our salon, we recommend a salon permanent wave. Soft, natural as though you'd had lovely waves in your hair since birth . . . reflecting true artistry in every smart line. (No frizzled head ever reflected a woman's true self!) And, while we're giving you the wave, you'll have a chance to do a bit of communing with your inner self". (Waves are so pleasant today . . . even the scent of them is fragrant, feminine!) Relax in our modern salon chairs . . . forget the tensions of the world outside. You'll find a beautiful inner peace, to reflect on your prettier, more relaxed features when your new hairstyle's finished!

Be "Somebody Else" If You Like!

This is another bit of salon magic. Your hair will say things it never dared to say before . . . if it's a brand new colour! Suddenly the mousy, discouraged woman is gone. (She's a sparkling blonde!) Or the greying lady is a vibriant redhead. It's a well-established truth of our profession: the very colour of our hair determines a great deal of your personality through the confidence it gives you! Let us prove it to you. You can be anyone you want to be. That's the beauty of beauty salon magic!

Football Officials' Fete Tonight

Mon Valley Football Officials will hold their annual banquet at the Charleroi Elks Club tonight . . . The arbiters annually come up with a top-notch program and an entertaining fete which combines just enough formality with an otherwise informal affair to keep within the banquet classification . . . This annual fete gives the officials a chance to take some good-natured jibes at the coaches, who always attend as guests . . . Greensburg is well represented on the St. Vincent College basketball squad with four of the five starters from the Westmoreland County seat, including Harry Folk, a junior; Jack Kalbfus, a senior; Bernie Peterson, also a junior, and Paulie Peterson, a sophomore.

* * *

Ken Bronson's 84 points in copping the 1957 scoring title, is high by some standards but below the 132 scored by Maurice Mathieu last season and the 98 tallied by Carmen Cappelli of Charleroi in 1955 . . . Brownsville's Andy Sepsi won it with only 63, however, in 1954, the lowest total since 1941 when Leon (Pappy) Johnson, won the honor . . . Highest ever scored was 152 by Deacon Dan Towler in 1945 . . . Monessen has only won the conference scoring honor four times, including this season, since the Valley loop was formed . . . Jim Ralston with 149 points in 1949 was the other 'Hound gridder to wear the crown in addition to Johnson, Mathieu and Bronson . . . Brownsville leads in having taken the honor the most times, (9), Charleroi winning it eight times.

Commission Warns Deer Hunters

The Pennsylvania Game Commission has issued this warning to state hunters reminding them that any sportsmen who brought down a deer during the archery season may not bag another of the animals until next year . . . The two-week antlered deer season will run through Dec. 14 with the special three-day doe season opening Dec. 16 . . . By the way, Game protectors report a considerable increase in fawns and also have noted that most bucks have considerably larger racks, especially those sighted in the agricultural parts of the Commonwealth . . . A "heavy" kill is expected for the deer herd is said to approach the half million mark.

Although many other valley fans were unhappy over the Big Five team selections, we know of three district football coaches who must have been happy . . . They are Harry, (Yi) McCurdy, Monessen assistant mentor, whose son, Mike, was named to an honorable mention end berth; John P. (Moon) Clark, whose son, Neill, was selected to a first team guard berth and Andy Kuzemka, also an assistant here, whose nephew, Nick (Kuzemka) was given a second string tackle slot . . . Basketball season opened early in Monongahela with an Armory team from Charleroi topping a Monongahela team last week at the Company A Armory floor.

Ex-Cougar Aide Coaches Champs

Former Charleroi assistant grid coach Mark Booth is now a head coach for a Navy team at Newport Naval Base and has been awarded the Naval District football trophy by the Commanding Officer of the Newport base . . . The title game last week found a former Donoran Dick Jones, aiding in Booth's victory by scoring two touchdowns in a 19-6 victory . . . Jones was all-Valley in 1955 . . . Both of Jone's TDs were double takes as both were called back for penalties . . . While on the subject of Donora sports, Father McCarren, assistant pastor at St. Charles R. C. Church there is treating six of the players from the St. Paul's orphanage team in Pittsburgh to a visit to Notre Dame . . . St. Paul's defeated St. Bernard's of Mt. Lebanon for a perfect season and that's like Notre Dame topping Oklahoma.

Erwin Barrie Becomes Famous Artist-Golfer

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP) — Erwin Barrie, a golf nut who was stymied 35 years in his ambition to be either a famous painter or golfer, finally has made it both ways by swapping his brassie for a brush and easel.

Barrie's was an unfortunate case for years because he was in the diplomatic position of being a fine artist and represented other artists. Naturally, if he sold his own paintings they probably would have taken it unkindly.

But at long last he has hit the jackpot simply because there aren't many good painters who are golfers and not many good golfers who are painters.

Paints Golf Holes

So Barries has painted 55 famous golf holes he has played and they are in a fair way to becoming collectors' items. Which makes him famous, at long last, as an artist and also as a figure of note in the game of golf.

His works, as example, are in the private collection of such famed golfing figures as President Eisenhower and Bobby Jones. A number of them are on exhibition at Pinehurst, which is among the fabled courses he has painted along with such others as St. Andrews, Augusta, Apawamis, Yale University, Saucon Valley, Sleepy Hollow and Winged Foot.

Three of the golf holes he has painted — the 14th at Pine Valley, the fifth at St. Andrews and the 10th at Augusta — are being reproduced by Spalding this year for their Christmas packages. It is a move which promises to help make Barrie's paintings of golf rank with the boxing masterpieces of George Bellows and the sculpting art of Thomas Eakins.

Success At Last

It is rather late recognition, because Barrie is 71. The nice part is that he doesn't look it for the sturdy little man has a shock of steel gray hair, twinkling blue eyes, ruddy cheeks and a young man's spring to his step.

Success came late to Barrie because the Canton, Ohio, native got a job in a Chicago department store's run-down art department when he was graduated from Cornell. Barrie began improving the quality of the art being carried and, as part of his campaign, neglected his own painting to put on exhibitions and manage fellow artists.

Thirty-five years ago, Barrie, who will discuss golf or art with the drop of a putt or a Picasso, co-founded the Grand Central Art Galleries in New York.

Golf, at which he still is a 14 handicap player, finally became his painting outlet and at last the fame he sought personally has arrived.

Greensburg Next Stop for 'Hounds

Majors' 'Draft' Opens

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (UP) — The Washington Senators will open the major league draft today by selecting Bobby Malkmus from Wichita of the American Association in an effort to plug a gaping hole at second base.

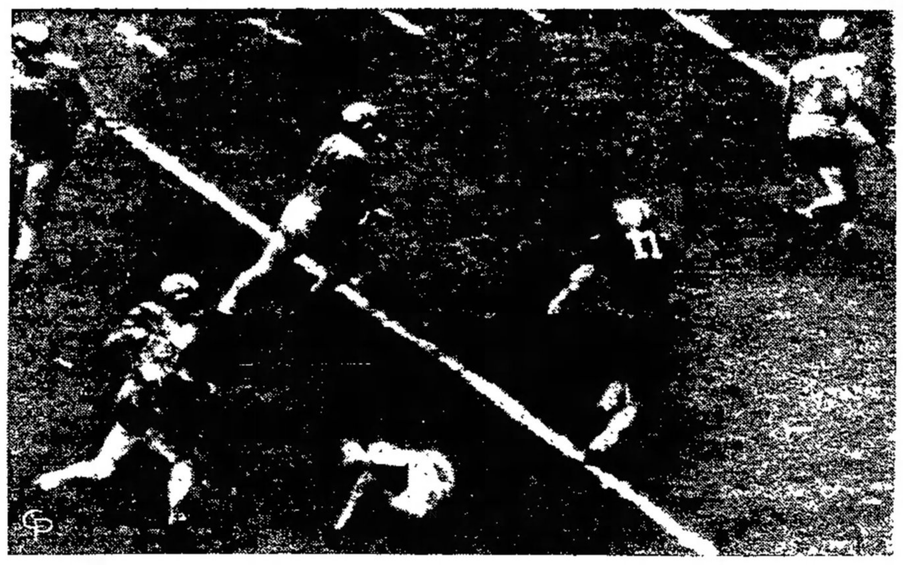
There was a strong likelihood that no more than 10 or 12 players would be drafted in all. Several major league clubs indicate they will pass up their privilege of selecting players from the minors at "bargain prices ranging from $15,000 for an open classification choice to $2,000 for a Class D performer.

Malkmus is a Milwaukee reject who batted .291 in 124 games for Wichita last season. Included among his hits were nine homers, seven triples and 26 doubles along with 62 runs batted in.

Pittsburgh has second choice in the draft and if the Pirates do not select a player from the Denver roster, the Kansas City Athletics, who are third in the draft order, will select catcher Harry Chiti from Denver.

Chiti, a Cub discard, was with Richmond of the International League last season where he batted .271 in 120 games. He hit 10 home runs while driving in 56.

Meanwhile, re-alinment of the nation's minor league baseball map was in full swing as representatives of 28 leagues and more than 200 cities worked out plans for the 1958 campaign at the minor-major league conventions.



NAVY SUBDUES ARMY: 14-to-0 — Navy's Ned Oldham runs 55 yards for the Middies' second touchdown after taking Army's fourth down kick in the third quarter of the traditional inter-service crusade. Oldham, scoring both touchdowns, led the Tars to a 14-to-0 victory over Army before a crowd of 100,000 fans who huddled in the cold rain which fell steadily throughout the game. The victory secured for Navy the Lambert Trophy, symbolic of eastern football superiority, and in all probability a New Year's day Cotton Bowl bid.

'We're Depending on Sophomores'—Cree

"We're very green and inexperienced and will have to depend a lot on sophomores," stated Monongahela's Al Cree in commenting on the Wildcats' cage prospects for the coming season.

Cree explained that he has only two seniors back in Ron Saunders, who goes about 5-10 and Milton (Dinker) Diaz, 6-0.

Out of a squad of about 30 players, Cree stated that 15 to 20 are sophomores with no previous varsity experience, like the Johnson twins, Bob and Bill, sons of Wildcat assistant coach Harry Johnson. The twins were juniors high stars at Carroll Township last season. They are around 5-8 in height.

Other sophs out for the team include Tommy Thompson, 5-6, Homer Green at 6-1 and Ed Cooper at 6-4, the only very tall player on the squad, all of whom played on a good Monongahela junior high team last season.

First Year Candidates

Still other 'first year' candidates include George Simmons, 6-0, Dave Thornley, 5-10, Jack Henson, 5-5, Teddy Gregor, 6-0, George Jenkins, 6-0, Terry Law, 6-1, Larry Keenan, 5-3, another Carroll product; Frank Spernak, 6-0, of last year's junior high quint at Monongahela, and Bill Neidermyer, 5-10.

Some help is expected to come from Mike McCurdy, 5-11, son of Monessen assistant grid coach Harry McCurdy, 5-11, George Jenkins, 6-0, and Pete Tragone, 5-5, all of whom had some varsity experience last season.

"Although we have Cooper at 6-4," Cree added, "he is a perfect example of our problem as he is playing basketball for only his second year and will need considerable work."

Monongahela opened with a 53-26 loss to Greensburg and will host Snowden tomorrow then follows exhibitions with Clairton, Homestead, Washington, Uniontown, Rostraver, and Hempfield before the Section 5-A opener with Donora at home Jan. 3 plus another exhibition with Elizabeth at the half-way mark in the season.

Locals Hope to Get on Winning Track Tomorrow

Monessen High School's basketball team, still smarting from a 61-44 setback at the hands of McKeesport here Friday night, travel to Greensburg tomorrow night fr the next battle on the locals' rugged exhibition card.

"We need a lot of work," was Greyhound coach Frank Janosik's caustic comment on the performance of the locals Friday night when against the Tigers.

After playing nip-and-tuck ball with the McKeesporters, defending Section 6 champions, for the first half, the 'Hounds fell apart the last two quarters to drop the decision.

The locals were handicapped by having only a small squad of regulars on hand for early drills due to the late-ending football season.

Rebound, Outside Weaknesses

A lack of rebound strength was noted in the McKeesport tilt plus inability to hit from outside which Janosik will certainly see about correcting before meeting the County seat five tomorrow night.

Greensburg opened with a victory over a Section 5-A team Friday night in an easy 53-36 victory over Monongahela, in a game which featured a fast start by the Wildcats in the first period.

Bob Eicher, a polished junior, paced the Lions with 17 points, while Ron Palcic and Tony Thomas also had a hand in the easy victory.

Other games on tap in the district tomorrow night show Bellmar at West Newton, Rostraver hosting Elizabeth, Charleroi visiting Canonsburg, Snowden at Monongahela, Bethlehem Joint at Brownsville and Perryopolis entertaining Point Marion.

Local Junior High tilts show Monessen at Fallowfield tomorrow while Rostraver visits Monongahela today.

DAWKINS ELECTED

WEST POINT, N.Y. (UP)—Halfback Pete Dawkins of Royal Oak, Mich., has been elected captain of Army's 1958 football team. He is the first halfback to hold the honor since Glenn Davis shared the team captaincy with Doc Blanchard in 1946.

Wilkinsburg Celebrates AA Title Victory

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Wilkinsburg High School students enjoyed a holiday today to celebrate the school's first WPIAL Class AA championship in 35 years.

The Tigers, a somewhat small but sturdy team, outplayed Clairton at Pitt Stadium Saturday for a 12-0 victory and the school's fifth WPIAL title. The last time Wilkinsburg won the championship was in 1922.

Principal Edward F. Ege, who played on Wilkinsburg's first championship team in 1914, said the students would be released from school by noon. But reports indicated few would show up for morning classes.

Guided by quarterback Leroy Loudermilk, the Tigers scored in the second and fourth periods. Halfback Danny Donahue carried over for both touchdowns.

Donahue scored first from the seven-yard line and romped 57 yards around end for the second score when a host of blockers sprung him into the Clairton secondary. Donahue, who rushed for 972 yards in seven games during the regular season, gained 107 against Clairton, only 18 less than the Bears' total.

Reybon Stubbs in TV Bout Tonight

NEW YORK (UP)—Gene (Ace) Armstrong, unbeaten middleweight of Elizabeth, N.J., seeks his 13th straight victory tonight in a TV 10-rounder with Reybon Stubbs of Pittsburgh at St. Nicholas Arena.

It will be televised by Dumont at 10 p.m. e.s.t.

Armstrong is favored at 3-1 because of the lopsided licking he gave ex-contender Randy Sandy in his last fight, Dec. 4. Also because Stubbs, the harder puncher, hasn't fought since June 27.

Armstrong, 25, is two years older than Stubbs, but he's had less professional experience.

Vans, Avella Drop Soccer Cup Tilts

Morgan blanked Avella, 2-0, and Beadling defeated Van Voorhis, 3-1, in yesterday's National Amateur Soccer Cup competition.

Substitutes made both Morgan goals with Mitchell scoring in the first half and S. Klemesh, in the second half.

Bob Cherry connected for two Beadling goals and Frank Pollock's second half shot put the game on ice for the winners after Van Voorhis had missed a penalty shot.

Browns, Colts Near NFL Honors

By EARL WRIGHT

The Cleveland Browns, who have missed only one championship game in 11 years, and the Baltimore Colts, who never have played in one, will clash for the 1957 National Football League title if they win next Sunday.

Cleveland can win the Eastern Division title for the seventh time in eight tries by whipping the Lions at Detroit. A Cleveland victory over the Lions, parlayed with a Baltimore triumph over the 49ers at San Francisco, would give Baltimore the Western crown.

Each of the five leaders has two more games but Cleveland and Baltimore victories next Sunday would give them unbeatable leads.

The Browns took a 1½-game lead Sunday by shutting out the Chicago Cardinals, 31-0. The 49ers gave Cleveland a big assist by upsetting the New York Giants, defending league and Eastern Division champions, 27-17. A victory or a tie against the Lions or the Giants Dec. 15 at New York would give Cleveland the Eastern title.

Colts Beat Rams

The Colts remained a game ahead of Detroit and San Francisco in the Western race by defeating the Los Angeles Rams, 31-14, before a record Baltimore pro football crowd of 52,060. Detroit kept within range of Baltimore with an 18-6 Thanksgiving Day triumph over the Green Bay Packers.

The Washington Redskins beat the Chicago Bears 14-3, as Eddie Le Baron threw a 10-yard touchdown pass to Jim Podoley and set up Ed Sutton's four-yard scoring dash. In Sunday's other game, Sonny Jurgensen's seven-yard pass to Dick Bielski gave the Philadelphia Eagles a 7-6 victory over the Pittsburgh Steelers.

Cleveland missed a division title last year for the first time in four campaigns in the All-America conference and seven in the NFL when it wound up with a 5-7 record. If the Browns win the 1957 Eastern title, it will be the best NFL comeback since the old Cleveland Rams (now Los Angeles) won the Western crown in 1945 after stumbling to a 4-6, mark in 1944.

O'Connell Sparked Win

Tommy O'Connell threw touchdown passes of 23 and 65 yards to Ray Renfro and set up Lew Carpenter's 10-yard scoring run as the Browns romped at Cleveland against the Cardinals.

Lenny Moore scored three times for Baltimore. He caught scoring passes of three and 50 yards from Johnny Unitas and ran 23 for a touchdown. Unitas also threw a 10-yard scoring pass to Ray Berry to raise his season total of touchdown passes to 22, high for the league.

Y. A. Tittle's passing and ball-handling plus San Francisco's recovery of six New York fumbles probably will cost the Giants their title. The fumbles led to touchdowns by fullbacks Gene Babb and Joe Perry plus two field goals by Gordie Soldau. Tittle threw 14 yards to Billy Wilson for the other Forty-Niner touchdown.

Antlered Deer Season Opens in State Today

HARRISBURG (UP) — Pennsylvania hunters literally "took to the hills" early today for the opening of the state's 17-day antlered deer season.

The state Game Commission said it expected "hundreds of thousands" of sportsmen to test their luck and skill in bagging one of the estimated half million deer roaming the bills. Legal hunting extends from 7 a.m. to 5 p.m., except Sundays, through Dec. 14.

All evidence points toward a record buck kill, to surpass the 13,000 reported killed last season. Game protectors have noted a considerable increase in fawns and reported that most bucks have noticeably larger racks, especially those sighted in the agricultural parts of the Commonwealth.

The commission reminded the sportsmen they are allowed only one deer, regardless of the season it was bagged, during the year. Following the antlered deer season, a special three-day doe season opens Dec. 16.

Archers who did not bag a set of trophy horns during the bow and arrow season and have, a hunting permit, may shoot an antlered deer with either a bow and arrow or a rifle.

Also, a legal deer must be a buck with two or more points to one antler, or with an antler three or more inches long without points. There is no open season on elk.

Panthers Begin Serious Drills For Hurricanes

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The University of Pittsburgh settled down to serious practice today for its clash with the Miami Hurricanes in the Orange Bowl at Miami Saturday.

Coach Johnny Michelosen, who gave his squad four days off during the Thanksgiving Day week end, was a bit more cheerful after receiving scouting reports on the Miami-Florida contest last Saturday.

The Hurricane attack was so ineffective against Florida they failed to come within 40 yards of a touchdown in losing 14-0.

The Panthers have a 4-5 record and are determined to close out their season on a winning note. Miami's record is 4-4-1 and the caliber of its opposition during the season falls short of the schedule Pitt has played.

The game will be televised nationally beginning at 4 p.m. e.s.t.

ROSEWALL DOWNS HOAD

Texas Aggies' John Crow UP 'Back of Year'

By FRANK LITSKY

NEW YORK (UP)— John David Crow of Texas A&M, who would rather smash into the middle of the line than run around it, was voted college football's back of the year today in a nationwide United Press poll.

Balloting by 256 sports writers and sportscasters gave Crow 101 votes, or 40 per cent. Far behind in the next three positions were Walt Kowalczyk of Michigan State with 33 votes, Bob Anderson of Army with 16 and Clendon Thomas of Oklahoma with 13. Those three and Crow made up the backfield of the United Press All-America announced last week.

Crow Line Smasher

Although Texas A&M uses the T formation, Crow drew the line-smashing assignment from his halfback post, single wing style. That suited him just fine.

"I think the way the Aggies play football—grinding out three or four yards at a time—is real football," he said.

On some plays, Crow swept the ends with exceptional speed and was a constant danger in the open. He has run the 100 yard dash in 10.5 seconds. He is built like a bruiser—six-two and 210 pounds—and his crew-cut blond hair gives him the authentic look of a football hero.

Crow, who comes from Springhill, La., also excels on defense. Paul (Bear) Bryant, the head coach of the Aggies, said he's never seen anyone back a defensive line as well as Crow.

Hopes to Play Pro Ball

While majoring in business, Crow hopes to play professional football for the next few years after his graduation in June. He said he never had an interest in coaching.

Other vote-getters in the poll:

12—Don Clark of Ohio State.

9—Lee Grosscup of Utah.

7—Bob Newman of Washington State and Bob Stransky of Colorado.

6—Jim Pace of Michigan and Nick Pietrosante of Notre Dame.

5—Jim Shanley of Oregon.

4—Tom Forrestal of Navy, Dick Christy of North Carolina State and Bobby Mulgado of Arizona (Tempe) State.

3—Jimmy Jones of Washington, Wray Carlton of Duke and Ray Brown of Mississippi.

2—Jim Bakhtiar of Virginia, Randy Duncan of Iowa and Tom Greene of Holy Cross.

1—Billy Atkins and Lloyd Nix of Auburn, Jimmy Taylor of Louisiana State, Bobby Cox of Minnesota, Joe Francis of Oregon State, Bobby Gordon of Tennessee, Dean Philpott of Fresno State, Walt Fondren of Texas, Dan Nolan of Lehigh, Billy Stacy of Mississippi State, John Sapoch of Princeton, Jim Ninowski of Michigan State, Bob White of Ohio State and Len Lyles of Louisville.

RED ATHLETES WIN

MONTREAL (UP) — Russia's touring amateur hockey team defeated the Ottawa-Hull Junior Canadiens, 6-3, Sunday. The Russians, who have lost only two of six games since arriving in Canada, play Tuesday night at Kingston and conclude their tour at Ottawa Friday night.

College Cagers Open 1957-58 Season Tonight

By JOHN GRIFFIN

Without wasting any time on "breathers," the 1957-5 college "breathers," the 1957-58 college with games that will give us a quick line on just how good those highly-touted Kansas and Kentucky teams really are.

Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain and his Kansas mates plunge right into a game with one of the three teams to beat them last year—Oklahoma State.

And Kentucky, led by sharpshooting Johnny Cox, will collide with a tough Duke team that has added enough experience and height to provide a real test.

Some Soft Touches

There are some supposedly "soft touches" on tonight's opening game program, of course. Big Ten co-champion Michigan State is expected to handle Butler comfortably and co-champion Indiana is a heavy favorite over Ohio University. San Francisco, the nation's No. 3 team last season, should have little trouble with Chico State and Temple, last year the highest-ranked team in the East, is a big choice over Delaware.

But Kansas may be in for one of its toughest games of the year at Stillwater, Okla. Another one being watched tonight is SMU at Minnesota.

LaSalle to Play

La Salle, No. 10 last year and the seventh of last year's "top 10," to see action tonight, will play a tune-up against Millersville (Pa.) State. Rice goes against New Mexico A&M.

Other highlights tonight include: Oklahoma - Arkansas, Colorado-Colorado State, CCNY - Columbia, Wake Forest - Davidson, Iowa St.-Drake, Tennessee - Furman, South Carolina-Georgia, Oklahoma City-Houston, Illinois - Marquette, Purdue-Miami (Ohio), Western Michigan - Northwestern, Stanford-College of Pacific, William & Mary-Virginia, and Wisconsin-South Dakota.

Steelers Drop 6 - 3 Defensive Battle

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — The Philadelphia Eagles pushed across a touchdown early in the second period Sunday and then staved off last quarter threats to defeat the Pittsburgh Steelers, 7-6.

The Eagles' winning touchdown came on a pass from rookie Sonny Jurgensen to fullback Dick Bielski with the all important conversion by Bobby Walston. Their touchdown drive was a 36-yard march which followed a fumble by Steeler's quarterback Len Dawson.

Pittsburgh's scoring came on two field goals by Gary Glick as the Eagles, for the second week in a row, held their opponents without a touchdown. Glick missed two other field goal tries from the 16 and 31 in the final period, either of which would have won the game.

Glick's first field goal in the opening quarter gave the Steelers a 3-0 lead until the Eagles pushed across their touchdown. In the third period a Pittsburgh drive which started on their own 38 stalled on the Eagles 13 and Glick kicked his second field goal from the 23.

The Steelers threatened constantly after that but luck ran against them. In addition to Glick's two missed field goal attempts, an Earl Morrall pass intended for Jug Girard who was in the clear in the end zone hit the goal posts.

By JOE SARGIS

NEW YORK (UP)—Ohio State's Buckeyes today were named the 1957 mythical college football champions after a close ballot battle with unbeaten Auburn and Michigan State.

Ohio State, winner of eight of nine games and the Big Ten's representative to the Rose Bowl game, Jan. 1, was chosen the top team in the final voting by 14 of the 35 coaches who make up the United Press College Football Rating Board. The Buckeyes also drew nine second place ballots, seven third place ballots, three fourths, one sixth and one seventh for a total of 307 points.

Auburn is Second

Auburn, winner of 10 straight games in a perfect season, was named first by 11 coaches, while Michigan State drew eight first place ballots. The other two first place ballots went to Arizona (Tempe) State, which also won 10 straight games without defeat this season.

Auburn finished with 290 points, while Michigan State, whose only loss in nine games was to Purdue midway through the season, had 283 points in one of the closest races in the eight-year history of the coaches rating board, which is recognized as the most authentic.

The Buckeyes, who lost their season opener to Texas Christian rolled to eight straight wins in their climb to the national championship.

Sooners Fourth

Oklahoma's Sooners, national champions in 1950, 1955 and 1956 and sixth in the ratings last week, moved up two notches to fourth, gaining 195 points. Iowa, third in the Big Ten race behind Ohio State and Michigan State, finished fifth with 192 points.

Navy, Rice, Mississippi, Notre Dame and Texas A&M rounded out the top 10 in that order.

All the first 10 members with the exception of Auburn, Michigan State, Iowa and Notre Dame have received various bowl bids. Ohio State plays Oregon in the Rose. Oklahoma is paired against Duke in the Orange, Navy meets Rice in the Cotton. Mississippi plays Texas in the Sugar and Texas A&M meets Tennessee in the Gator.

Seeking Area Link With West Virginia

CLARKSBURG, W. Va. (UP)—President C. A. Montgomery of the West Virginia-Pennsylvania Turnpike Assn. said today it probably would be the middle of next week before a date for a meeting to formulate plans for the improvement of U. S. 19 is scheduled.

The Association will undertake to get a 35-mile portion of the highway between Washington, Pa. and the West Virginia border incorporated into the federal Interstate highway System.

Kremlin—

Soviet Radio Beaming Its Story To the World as Americans Boil

(First of Three Dispatches)

By JACK V. FOX

NEW YORK (UP) — The voice of the announcer, in accents purely American, came in clearly on the shortwave band at 7:30 p. m. e.d.t., on Oct. 5. It could be heard throughout the eastern United States.

"To the U.S. claim that it is bringing democracy to the people of Asia and other countries, the reply is: 'Democracy begins at home. First put an end to racism and contempt for other human beings because of the color of their skin, and then you can talk about democracy.' "

The same night another broadcast, this one in French, was heard in Europe.

"What, professor, is the principal difference between the Soviet satellite and the American?" asked the straight man.

"The principal advantage of the Soviet artificial satellite," replied the scientist, "is that it has already been launched while the American satellite is still being built."

The voices were those of the Kremlin—Radio Moscow.

It was pounding home its two unceasing topics this autumn: Little Rock and Sputnik. It does so in beamed broadcasts around the clock in 47 languages and dialects to every continent on our earth.

To Japan it says:

"All the talk by American rulers about their desire to suspend atomic arms expansion is a trick to deceive the world public."

To the Arab world it says:

"Turkish troops, at American instigation, are massing on the border of Syria poised for invasion."

Any American with a shortwave band on his radio set can get an education in Communist propaganda, and his temper well ruffled, by tuning in. There are two programs—one beamed to the West Coast from 3 p.m. to 10 p.m. and another to the eastern United States broadcast from 6 p.m. to 1 a.m. They are on different frequencies.

Slanted Newscasts

Most of Moscow Radio's foreign broadcasts are heavy handed commentaries and slanted news with a slight leavening of classical music. Recently it made a stab at a "quiz program" featuring such loaded questions as "When did unemployment end in the Soviet Union?"

A few curious Americans entered the contest and a survey showed that virtually all of them won "second prize." Among the prizes: A book of photographs of Moscow and musical records with such titles as "Thanks to the Party" and "Agriculturists, Engineers are coming to our Kolkhoz."

But Radio Moscow, for the most part, is not to be laughed at. It has increased foreign broadcasts from 334 hours a week in 1948 to 895 at present. A breakdown earlier this year showed 381 hours beamed to Europe, 192 to the Near East, 126 to North America, 112 to the Far East and 35 to Latin America.

A survey by U.P. bureaus around the world shows that it puts great emphasis on the "neutralist," the uncommitted areas of the world. Indonesia, in the tumult of new independence, is an example. Moscow beams 10 and one-half hours daily to Indonesia.

It has as its accomplices Peiping Radio and the foreign broadcasts of the Red satellites in Eastern Europe. Radio Cairo, unwittingly or not, is doing an effective job of following the Communist line in stirring unrest and anti - Westernism in the Middle East.

Radio Moscow not only beams voice broadcasts to foreign countries but puts great effort into Hellschreiber (radio printer) and Morse broadcasts to the West giving the Russian slant on the news.

These transmissions are monitored not only by Communist and left-wing publications and organizations in other countries but also by pro-Western outfits because they often contain the first break in an important internal story in the Soviet Union.

The one great advantage that Radio Moscow enjoys is that the Western nations do not attempt to "jam" its overseas broadcasts whereas the Communist countries put even more effort into "jamming" than they do into their own broadcasts.

Next: Western Europe, the battleground for Moscow Radio and voices of the free world.

Faulty Stove Blamed in Death Of Eight Kids

SHERBROOKE, Que. (UP) — Fireman today believed a faulty oil stove triggered the inferno which engulfed an eight-room frame house Sunday, burning to death eight young children.

The fire apparently started shortly after Mrs. Marie-Ange Denault, 32, had left for 7:30 a.m. Mass with her 13-year-old son Robert, leaving the other eight children with their sleeping father. Mrs. Denault had turned up the stove at her husband Lionel's request shortly before leaving the house.

Denault, 38-year-old pulp and paper worker, suffered third degree burns and cuts in trying to save the children. He had two of them in his arms at one point, but he was so badly burned they managed to wriggle loose in their panic. Denault escaped through a ground floor window.

Mrs. Denault knew nothing of the tragedy until she and her son returned from church to see the one-and-a-half story building blazing.

Ban on in-store Milk Advertising

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Milk Control Commission today studied a possible ban on in-store milk advertising which it said eventually results in higher prices to some consumers.

Commissioner Simon K. Uhl said plans call for outlawing Jan. 1 the practice of such advertising where milk dealers pay a rental to store owners for putting up signs.

ARE VITAMINS MEDICINE?

Door-to-door salesmen are selling "vitamin preparations" these days and you may think these are therapeutic doses. They may or may not be. Point is, that you can't know whether they are or not, and the salesman probably isn't qualified to know whether you ever need them. If you do need vitamins in the therapeutic quantities, only your physician can tell you what you need and how much, and only your registered pharmacist should dispense them. Where your health is concerned, always rely on competent professionals.

3 Memorials

In loving memory of our dear wife and mother, Mrs. Lillian E. Kalbo, who died two years ago today, December 2, 1955.
The blow was heavy, the shock severe,
We little thought that death was near,
But only those who have lost can tell,
The pain for parting without farewell.
We who loved her, sadly miss her,
We who held her very dear,
And in the lonely hours of thinking
Often feel her presence near.
Sadly missed by husband, John A. Kalbo, Son and Daughter-in-law

In loving memory of our dear mother, Mrs. Mary Massey, who died seven years ago today, December 2, 1950.
Gone, dear mother, gone forever,
How we miss your smiling face,
But you left us to remember
None on earth can take your place.
A happy home we once enjoyed,
How sweet the memory still;
But death has left a loneliness,
The world can never fill.
Sadly missed by sons, Emil and Jules

Swaney Makes Liquor Board All Democrats

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Liquor Control Board became an all-Democratic agency today for the first time in many years with the swearing in of Daniel B. Swaney, Uniontown, as a board member at a salary of $14,000 a year.

Swaney, an educator and businessman, has been treasurer of the Democratic Central Committee of Fayette County for 15 years. He succeeds Donald A. Behney, Lebanon, a Republican, whose term expired.

Gov. George M. Leader's appointment of Swaney to the board was criticized recently by Republican State Chairman George I. Bloom as part of a move to undermine the expected Democratic gubernatorial candidacy of Lt. Gov. Roy E. Furman, Waynesburg. Bloom said Leader tapped for the appointment a man from a region where Furman hopes to get support from some county leaders.

State VFW Is Urging 'Crash' Education Program

HARRISBURG (UP)—The Pennsylvania Department, Veterans of Foreign Wars, today proposed a broad "crash" educational program, including federal scholarships for college science students and creation of a National Academy of Science.

William J. Tepsic, Pittsburgh, state commander, said he would ask Pennsylvania's 30-member congressional delegation to meet in a group conference to "find an area of agreement" and then offer a jointly-sponsored bill when Congress convenes in January.

The VFW program calls for:

—Competitive science scholarships for high school graduates.

—Retention of instructors in the sciences of supplementary salary grants.

—Economic and professional incentives to teach sciences in high schools.

—Inclusion of medical and other science students in the proposed federal education project.

—Creation of a National Academy of Science with free, advanced post-graduate studies.

—Increasing the present $600 federal income tax deduction.

Tepsic said his organization was making a survey aimed at better utilizing the state's 14 teachers colleges for scientific education.

It is estimated that the average housewife washes two and one-half million dishes in her lifetime.

Cure not Hopeless In Cancer

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

The most common form of cancer, skin cancer, is the most likely to be cured, provided, of course, that proper treatment is begun promptly. So for your own good, it's important to be alert for any change in the size or color of a mole or a melanotic freckle.

Most of us have moles which are entirely harmless. But sometimes a lesion called seborrhic keratosis is mistaken for a benign mole. Such a lesion is often pigmented and slightly raised. It usually appears on the face.

As a rule, these lesions should be removed promptly by a surgeon.

Prompt Removal

A mole also requires prompt removal if it shows any change in color or size, it if it exposed to constant irritation, or if it becomes ulcerated or begins bleeding. If it is located under a nail, it should also be removed.

Any black or brown mole which appears during adult life should be excised promptly.

The melanotic freckle in the precancerous stage often appears first as a dark brown sepia spot. Occasionally, it will be black when it is first noticed.

At first, it may be as small as a pinhead. Later it may reach the size of a palm.

The first change usually is a thickening of one portion of the lesion with the papule growing to the size of a pea or cherry. It will probably become ulcerous and bleed easily.

I'm sure your doctor would recommend surgical removal of such freckles.

Question and Answer

L. A.: Lately my husband has been drinking to excess. He seems to be taken by a strange urge and craving for liquor. After these drinking sprees, he is always very sorry and depressed. Can you help me?

Answer: It is likely he is suffering from dipsomania. He is probably emotionally unstable and thus given to sudden desires for alcohol.

Who's on First? Hagerty Routine

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (UP)—Presidential Press Secretary James C Hagerty told the big city reporters the President went out Sunday to look at four sides of beef. It went something like this:

Q.—What's four sections of beef?

Hagerty—Those are sections of beef that have been slaughtered and hung up for food.

Q.—Four quarters?

Hagerty—Quarters, sections — I don't know. I am a city boy

Q.—What did he do, take four and have them slaughtered?

Q.—Four quarters then? That makes one.

Hagerty—Half a steer — I don't know — maybe.

Q.—Four sides?

Hagerty—Sides, all right.

World of Radio—

Don McNeill Is Windy City Man with Roots

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UP)—Don McNeill is a performer who has roots in the Midwest. He also roots for it.

For 24 years, McNeill has been almost as familiar a part of the American breakfast scene as burnt toast. He emcees radio's "Breakfast Club," a one - hour klatsch that ABC beams out of Chicago, a city of much wind and whistle.

Don McNeill

"I'm a Windy City man from way back," said McNeill on a recent visit to observe the natives in Manhattan. "I don't think there's any doubt that one of the big reasons for the sucess of 'Breakfast Club' is that we've kept it in Chicago.

"I've had lots of offers over the years to move to TV and into New York, but I've resisted them all. I have a home and roots in Chicago, but it's something more than that—Chicago gives the show its flavor, it helps us stay close to the heart of this country."

Launched Show In 1933

McNeill, born in Galena, Ill., and raised in Sheboygan, Wis., launched the "Breakfast Club" on June 23, 1933, more than six-thousand breakfasts ago. The show, a mixture of music and chatter, has helped hatch such future stars as Johnny Desmond, Fibber McGee and Molly, The Merry Macs, Johnny Johnston, Betty Johnson, Alice Lon and Fran Allison.

McNeill also has featured just-plain-folks kind of people on his show, a custom which adds juice to affairs, he feels.

"Anybody coming out of an audience onto a stage adds unpredictability to a show—and interest," said McNeill. "Of course, it can be unnerving when you get an old fellow who slides into an off-color joke. Or when you get a kid on stage, as we did, who complains that he's allergic to all your sponsors' products.

"But it keeps things casual and relaxed—what, in television, they used to call the Chicago school. You remember the old Dave Garroway show out of Chicago — not much budget, but a lot of imagination.

"Generally, I guess you could say that's the opposite of the way Madison Ave. thinks. That's where everything must be a big production. You know the kind of approach—where you can't present a singer on TV unless you have at least four dancers moving around him."

Many daytime shows give away gifts to members of the audience, but it is a practice McNeil abhors.

"Throughout our 24 - year history we've resisted passing out anything. In a way it helps the show a good deal because when a housewife comes up on our stage, she can feel relaxed and conversational. She knows she's not competing for anything."

Inevitably, admits McNeill, the word "cornball" has been used by some critics to describe his show. "But frankly I consider the word 'Corny' a compliment," said McNeill. "By corny, I mean earthy American humor and if that's what the 'Breakfast Club' is, I'm delighted.'

Record Corner—

One Way To Start Fortune

By WILLIAM D. LAFFLER

NEW YORK — (UP) A New York watch repairman named Carl Doshay became a big man in the phonograph record business because he wanted to become a California rancher.

Doshay had sold his watch repair business and gone West, but legal red tape held up his purchase of the ranch and as time went by he found himself almost penniless.

One day Doshay hitched a ride with a truck driver on his way to the Los Angeles dump. Doshay noticed that the driver was carting a load of phonograph records that had been discarded by jukebox operators.

That gave Doshay an idea. He picked up a number of used phonograph records and planted them in a supermarket. Housewives bought every one at his bargain prices.

From then on Doshay peddled used records in groceries and soon was prosperous. Why not sell new long-plays to shoppers at a bargain price? he asked.

He had enough money to start his project and that's how Tops Records, whose long-play pop records retail for $1.49, started on its way to a multi-million-dollar business.

Turntable Tips

Stan Freberg's "Wonnerful, Wonnerful" (Capitol) is a hilarious take off on Lawrence Welk and his champagne music. . . Ork Leader Tony Pastor's son Guy has teamed up with Pop on a Roulette LP, "Let's Dance With Tony Pastor," that should give him a push toward the big time. . . Dinah Washington's Mercury revival of "Everybody Loves My Baby" is worth many spinnings.

Selected Singles — "Tonight" by Rosemary Clooney (Columbia), "Witchcraft" by Patience and Prudence (Liberty), "My Last Goodbye" by Marsha Winters (Stephany).

For Reminiscing

"Hits of the '40's" is an RCA-Camden remake of some of the top songs of the last decade played by orchestras led by Buddy Morrow, Wayne King, Freddy Martin, Vaughn Monroe, Sammy Kaye and other greats of the big-band days. . . "The Roaring Twenties in Hi-Fi" is even mouldier and contains 12 topsides from that era by Lionel Newman and His Orchestra (Liberty).

Albums of the Week — "Rooms," a musical story of a big city rooming house composed in the jazz idiom by Kenyon Hopkins who conducts the orchestra . . . "Have You Heard?" is a fine dance album by Lew Douglas and his Orchestra (Bally). His version of "Tumbling Tumbleweed" is among the best of 12 numbers. . . "The Beat" by Red Prysock and his Orchestra (Mercury) is top rock 'n' roll music.

Stevenson Is Called to Sit In on Session

WASHINGTON (UP) — Adlai E. Stevenson has been invited to a White House-legislative meeting this week in a move to strengthen bipartisanship in foreign affairs.

The administration took the unprecedented step of calling Stevenson, titular head of the Democratic Party, to the briefing for Congressional leaders Tuesday on administration plans to beef up NATO against Russia's increasing challenge.

The State Department said Stevenson had been asked to take part in the session because he has been working on the NATO proposals in his role as administration consultant.

The former Illinois governor "has accepted" the invitation, it said.

There still was no word, however, on whether Stevenson would go to Paris later this month as part of the U.S. delegation to the "summit" meeting of North Atlantic Treaty nations called to deal with Russia's missile scientific threat.

There was some chance the session might result in the first face-to-face meeting between President Eisenhower and Stevenson since Eisenhower defeated the latter for reelection.

Eisenhower plans to sit in on today's cabinet meeting to finalize proposals for Tuesday's legislative session, which he also hopes to attend if his doctors allow it.

Japanese Rally Urges Retrial Of W. S. Girard

MAEBASHI, Japan (UP)—A mass rally today adopted a resolution urging the retrial of American G. I. William S. Girard for the firing range death last Jan 30 of Mrs. Naka Sakai.

The rally came as dissatisfied Japanese prosecutors met in Tokyo today to decide whether to retry Girard.

Tuesday is the deadline for the prosecution to appeal against the three year's suspended sentence handed down against Girard in the Maebashi District Court.

The appeal decision is expected at 1 p.m. tomorrow (11 p.m. est tonight.)

The Maebasi rally was sponsored by the Somagahara Committee organized by the Socialists and other groups. It was held at the plaza in front of the Gumma prefectural Assembly building.

A resolution adopted by the group said the sentence given Girard was equivalent to acquittal. It said the people of Maebashi could not accept the "political" verdict and called it a "product of undue pressure exerted by the United States to influence the sentence."

The suspension, in effect, freed the 22-year-old soldier to go home to the United States with his 29-year-old Japanese bride.

But a decision by the procurators to appeal the case would automatically cancel any plans to return and would force Girard to face a new trial in the Tokyo higher court.

Plan Moscow Visit

CAIRO (UP)— The Egyptian cabinet Sunday night approved formation of a 17-man delegation headed by Industry Minister Aziz Sidki to leave for Moscow in the next few days to discuss Russia's loan to this country. A spokesman said the cabinet also approved plans whereby Egypt's five-year industrialization plan — for which the Russian aid was mainly designed — will be completed instead in three years.
